BY PAUL SCOTT MOWRER. By Cable to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1920. PARIS, October 6 .- Andre Tardieu. French delegate to the peace conference and ex-Premier Clemenceau's right hand man, declares in an important article in L'Illustration that the idea of Germany's inability to pay the total of the war damages and pensions is a vast hoax based on false figures. The peace delegates, he says, studied the Germans' financial capacity carefully before inscribing the terms. In a long and careful analysis, using German figures throughout and always giving Germany the benefit of the doubt in his calculations, M. Tardieu reaches the conclusion that the excess production over consumption even now should reach 17,000,000,000 marks in gold ($4,750,000,009), and that the Germans within thirty or forty years can easily pay the 650,000,000,000,000 marks in gold ($162,500,000,000), which he estimates will practically cover the principal and interest on the 350,000,000,000 marks ($87,500,000,000) war damages and pensions.

Surplus of $2,500,000. Before the war, according to the Before the war, according to the lowest German estimates, Germany's annual production was 43,000,000,000 marks ($10,750,000,000), while the consumption was 33,000,000,000 marks ($8,500,000,000), giving a surplus of 10,000,000,000 marks ($2,500,000,000). Taking into account all of Germany's present losses of territory and every kind of capital, including even human lives, the present production is estimated at $1,200,000,000 marks ($7,800,000,000). But consumption has also diminished. What with the territorial losses and the lowered standard of living, M. Tardieu considers the consumption at the very most 22,880,000,000 marks ($5,720,000,000), giving a surplus production over consumption of 8,320,000,000 marks ($2,080,000,000).

Admitting that the increase in the Admitting that the increase in the cost of living is 100 per cent, which, if anything, is too low, this figure becomes 17,000,000,000 marks in gold ($4,250,000,000).

Attacks Keynes' Figures. M. Tardieu further points out that t is Germany's moral duty to restore international consumption still more so as to be able to export even more and pay more quickly.

"I am not," says M. Tardieu in conclusion, "like Meynard Keynes, an expert in political economy, and when

WASHINGTON AGENTS AID WHISKY PROBE

Called to Chicago in Mystery Involving Alleged $175,000

CHICAGO, October 6.—Five federal agents were on their way here today from Washington to assist Maj. A. V. Dalrymple, district prohibition officer, in his investigations of reports that $175,000 worth of whisky had been stolen here on its arrival from Louiseville.

been stolen here on its arrival from Louisville.

Maj. Dalrymple announced early today that he had positive information as to the present location of the whisky, and said it was back in the hands of the consignees, who, he alleges, sold it to saloonkeepers, who were then robbed by men posing as police officers a short distance from the freight car where they received their allotment of the liquor.

"Mike De Pike" Heitler, who, Maj. Dalrymple charges, is the leader of the group which arranged the whisky shipment, has stored the whisky in a warehouse here, the major declared.

The prohibition director wired Washington officials asking for an order prohibiting the shipment of liquor, even legal transfers, into the Chicago territory for four months. This order would permit confiscation of all liquors shipped here, and would permit arrest and prosecution of both consignor and consignee, he said.

TEACHER IS ACCUSED.

Theft of Typewriter Causes Arrest of F. H. Hough.

Charged with the theft of a type-Charged with the theft of a type-writer belonging to the public schools, F. Harrison Hough, colored, teacher in Miner Normal School, was arrested by Detective Beckley and released on bond in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance in Police Court. Disappearance of the typewriter was reported to the police about the beginning of the current school term and it was recovered by Detective Beckley, who learned it was in possession of Charles L. Johnson, 301 U street.

Johnson told the police he had loaned Hough $50 on the typewriter the past summer and Hough, according to the police, admitted the truth of his statement. Hough told the police and school officials that the typewriter was loaned him by a former school principal, who is now in France and he supposed it was her personal property. He denied having the slightest intention of wronging anybody in connection with the transaction.

Harry O. Hine, secretary to the poard of education, swore out the war-rant for Hough's arrest, and the ac-cused teacher was suspended pending the outcome of his trial.

AID FOR COTTON RAISERS. Reserve Bank Head Urges All Possible Co-Operation.

Assurances that the federal reserve banks will lend every legitimate aid in rediscounting paper sent in by member banks when it is based on cotton are contained in a statement given out by Senator Smith of South Carolina after a conference with Secretary Houston and Gov. Harding of the Federal Reserve Board.

The conference was prompted by conflicting reports of what took place at a recent meeting between repreing to the time required for produc-tion of a marketable crop, and said Gov. Harding had promised to take the matter under advisement.

Mr. Dodson, whose office is in Baltimore, said that much less liquor was being drawn from Maryland warehouses now than was being taken out two or three months ago.

No restriction is being placed on the number of doctors who may prescribe whisky, the only requirement being that they be practicing physicians of good repute.
